

Job Title: Research Associate for Javits Grant Project WINGS (2022-2027): Scale-Up of Developing Academic Proficiency of Gifted English Learners with or without Disabilities through Advanced Mathematics and Language Scaffolding

Campus: Queens (8000 Utopia Pkwy, Queens, NY)

Job Summary:

Work with PI (Dr. Seokhee Cho) and co-PI (Dr. Jenny Yang) possibly as a Co-PI to conduct Project WINGS, Javits Grant Project to plan, execute, and report its performance in-person. (working condition will be hybrid: Online and in-person)

Essential Functions:

Oversees the research aspects of the Project WINGS to ensure successful execution of quasi-experimental design, refining assessment instruments, data collection and data analyses for the successful conduct of research working with the PI, Project Director and external evaluator. They will support for all aspects of project including conducting research and coordinating graduate students and schools. As an internal evaluator, they will collect information with the project team and independently analyze all the quantitative and qualitative data. At the end of project year, they will write summative reports on the project process, progress, and preliminary outcomes.

Required Education and Experience:

- Ph.D. in gifted education, special education, or education.
- 1 year of experience in the offered position or as a Research Scholar or Researcher (post-doctoral or fellowship).
- All of the required experience must have included conducting or participating in academic research in the areas of gifted education and/or STEM education; designing studies in the field of gifted education, including assessing, collecting, and analyzing data; designing a database, integrating data from multiple sources, and checking the accuracy and usefulness of data entries; performing quantitative analysis.

Preferred Education and Experience: Work experiences in managing a research project after Ph.D.

In compliance with NYC's Pay Transparency Act, the annual/hourly salary range for this position is $59,000 - $65,000. St. John's University considers factors such as (but not limited to) scope and responsibilities of the position, candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, as well as market and organizational considerations when extending an offer.

Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. We encourage interested candidates to apply promptly, as the search will conclude as soon as a suitable candidate is identified.

H1B Visa Sponsorship Available for Exceptional Candidate.

Contact: Dr. Seokhee Cho, Chos1@stjohns.edu; (516) 491-0942